NEW STRIKE WAS MADE MURCHIE MINE LAST WEEK

A new strike was made in the famous Murchie mine the past week that has opened up a large area of fine milling rock that runs as high as $64 per ton on picked samples and is averaging $18. to $20. per ton on plate run in the mill.

The ore was picked up on the 1000 level and has been drifted on for 20 feet. A stope 50 feet long, 40 feet high and six feet wide has been opened up. In a 15 day mill run concluded last week 387 tons milled and averaged $12. to $15. per ton. The stope is out about 1000 feet from the shaft.

Water seeping in from the N. I. D. new Deer Creek ditch has floobed the 1150 workings and it has been necessary to take the men from that level. Cornish pumps are being installed to replace the electric pumps in an attempt to handle the water. Ten inch pumps are operating to the 600 level, 6 inch to the 700 and 4 inch below the 700.

It is hoped that the water trouble can be solved as the 1150 workings were opening up excellent ore in the several drifts being run.

HORSHOE TOURNEY TO CREATE MUCH INTEREST

The local indoor version of "barnyard golf" will commence tomorrow night, when Hydraulic Parlor, Native Sons, plays Oustomah Lodge of Odd Fellows, in the first horseshoe pitching match of the year. Wednesday evening the two local branches of the Foresters of America, Court Garfield and Court Christoforo Columbo, will play the second series of games.

The local lodges have entered upon quite an extensive program in this year's horseshoe tournament. The tournament will continue 18 weeks, the team of each lodge engaging in 18 series of 3 games each, or 54 games. Definite rules have been adopted including a well-balanced schedule which allows each lodge one game per week and giving the teams a like number of games on their own and on foreign courts. The games will be played in the respective lodgerooms following lodge sessions.

The tournament last year, though short, was voted a success by the organizations participating therein, and was credited wtih having developed considerable good will among the members of the various orders through the asocsiations incident to the tournament contests, which brought the men of the various orders into intimate contacts and developed friendships which might otherwise never have been formed.

At the conclusion of the tournament it is planned to have a general meeting and banquet all the members of the Odd Fellows, Foresters and Native Sons. At this meeting the laurel horseshoe will be tendered the winning team, the lowest losing team will have charge of the kitchen police, and the various lodge members will celebrate at the festive board.

A wife and brother survive. Funeral services were conducted by Court Christoforo Colombo, Order of Foresters and a requiem mass was celebrated at St. Canice's Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. Reilly.

C. G. and J. E. Manion and R. C. Malone have located the Princess placer claim in Moore's Flat Mining District in S½S½SW¼ and W½ SN½W¼, Sec. 15, T18N, R10E.

Charles J. Lyser has located the Hotel asbestos claim in the Washington Mining District about 1200 feet west of the Washington Hotel on the north bank of the South Yuba river.

ADDITIONAL FINANCES EXPECTED BY DISTRICT

The meeting of the derectors of Nevada Irrigation District held on Monday was largely devoted to the possibilities of realizing more revenue from the water now being turned into Bear river by the Pacific Gas after passing through Drum power house. It was stated that the power company is willing to pay approximately $100,000 for the use of the water to run thru Halsey and Wise power houses, which amount it is estimated will take care of the additional bonds necessary to liquidate the present indebtedness of the District aside from the seven and a quarter million in bonds outstanding.

The directors and manager have been in San Francisco several days this week on matters attendant on the additional financing and in consultation with the bond certification commission, the bond buyers and the power company.

Resignations have been popular pastimes with the former higherups of the Nevada Irrigation District and the past week saw the pink slips lined up for Chief Engineer Tibbetts and Attorney Metteer, who however waived any technical privileges they might have and made their resignations effective at the pleasure of the board, which is quite different from the former manager who demanded his pound of flesh.

QUINCY ELKS WILL SPEND COMING WEEKEND HERE

On Friday and Saturday of this week the Plumas county members of Nevada City Elks Lodge wil lcome down to attend the reception to be given District Deputy P. G. Scadden. Initiation will also be held on Friday night while on Saturday night a dance wil be given and a banquet.

The merry group was headed by Mrs. Antha Locklin, President of the local Parlor. Mrs. Eden who served last year as District Deputy was thus honored by her friends in view of the faithful service rendered by her.

Whist was one of the social diversions. Prize winners of the evening were Mesdames Eden, Ray George Richard Hales, Fred Coombs, A. McGagin, Kate Fuller and Ralph Vincent.

R. A. Barnes, who has a barber shop in our city, is in Letterman's Hospital where an operation will be performed upon him.

BIG OPERATIONS EXPECTED IDAHO MARYLAND MINE

The work of re-building the shaft collar at the Idaho Maryland is now being completed and it is expected the work of operating the mine will be started again this week. The last timber sets in the shaft down to the 1000 level were put in place the end of the week and the last concrete around the shaft collar is being poured at the present time.

Work of further developing the strike of high grade ore on the 1900 level will be prosecuted with vigor. Plans for enlarging the present milling capacity of 20 stamps by ten to twenty stamps more are now being worked and it is expected that a flotation process will be installed. Ball mills for regrinding are also under contemplation.

Things are looking very favorable for large time operations at this property within the next six months. The present work carried on in fixing the shaft collar has cured a condition which has existed for a long time, the legs of the headframe having sunk badly and causing much trouble.

NO LAND TAX THIS YEAR BY IRRIGATION DISTRICT

The avoidance of a land tax this year by the directors of the Nevada Irrigation District affords a great deal of Satisfaction to the peole of Nevada county, who have maintained that the present directors can see the district through its financial affairs in good shape. The final date for settling the matter of the land tax was Friday and the board decided that a land tax was unnecessary this year.

Manager Miller recommended to the board that in view of satisfactory assurances, from the power company and the bond syndicate looking to additional revenues for the district that a land tax would not be necessary this year. The directors spent last week in San Francisco going over the proposition and feel highly encouraged over conditions.

MOHAWK SHAFT HITS OLD DRIFT THE PAST WEEK

Shaft sinking operations at the Mohawk mine were temporarily held up last week when an old tunnel was cut into. The old workings were full of mud and it has been found necessary to run a detour to get past the opening and run the timber sets through.

The tunnel was run at water level a number of years ago on the vein and some excellent rock was taken out.

E. R. Abadie has returned from the company's operations in Plumas county and reports good progress being made on getting the new mill ready for operation.

SEAWELL MAKES MANY FRIENDS IN THIS SECTION

Jerrold L. Seawell, Roseville real estate and insurance man, has filed as independent candidate for Member of the Assembly, ninth district, Placer and Nevada counties. "Jerry," as he is familiarly called, has a very pleasing personality and is reported to be very popular in his home town, and wherever he is known. An exrail road man, a school trustee and active in the Girls Scouts movement, he has had an experience that recommends him to the favorable consideration of the electorate. Following is what the Roseville Tribune says of him:

"Jerry, as he is better known to his many friends, is a former railroad man, having been employed by the Southern Pacific Company in engine service for a period of twelve years. He purchased the real estate and insurance business owned by the Matheny Brothers in this city and has been actively engaged in this business the past two years.

Mr. Seawell was elected a member of the Roseville Elementary School board in 1927 and was chosen as clerk of the board last April. He is also district commissioner of the Girl Scouts and has been very active in the promotion of Girl Scout activities in this city.

Having been reared upon a farm, he is in a position to know the problems that confront the farmer and is a strong booster for better mining legislation. With the knowledge he has obtained as a member of the school board places him in a position to know the needs of the present school system and in addition to this his experience as a railroad man would qualify him as an able representative of railroad labor.

Jerry has always been progressive and could be depended upon to fight for anything that would benefit Placer and Nevada counties."—Placer Herald.

The new ten stamp addition of the Brush Creek mill is expected to be completed in around 30 days. President Ben F. Ballard of the Kate Hardy company operating the property, reports 90 feet of drift opened up on the lower level and good milling ore running $7. to $9. in value. This is one of the promising quartz properties of the up country.

More bridge is being played than ever before and in order to master the greatest of all games it is necessary to learn the bidding and play properly, and it is essential that a recognized authority be followed. If you are a beginner the lessons will prove a great help and if you are already familiar with the bridge the problems and solutions will afford much wholesome entertainment and recreation.

LARGE PAYMENT MADE ON MINE LAST SATURDAY

A substantial payment on the option held by L. S. Wincapaw on the Golden Center mine was made on Saturday. The interests operating the Boundary mine have taken a lease from Mr. Wincapaw according to information given The Nugget and it is expected that this presages operations on a large scale in the not distant future.

The new shaft on the Peabody property has been pumped out and was found in fine shape. The present 400 foot shaft is to be deepened another 200 feet at once on the same incline. The Boundary mine has shown excellent production the past year and shows promise of becoming one of the leading producers of the district when present plans are fully carried out.

STOP SIGNS INSTALLED NOW TO WATCH THEM

Nevada City put on a real citified appearance when a number of red and yellow standard "Boulevard Stop" signs were put up by the state auto association the past week and traffic is now being directed by this means. Broad street is designated a boulevard as also Pine street, Sacramento, York and Washington streets.

As to what steps will be taken to look to a close enforement of the various provisions of the traffic recently passed by the trustees, have not been announced by the city dads, but it is stated on good authority that there will be a regular traffic officer in charge in the business district. The matter has been taken up of having state traffic officer, Joe Blake spend half of his time at the county seat.

Certain streets are to be restricted as to parking as soon as the trustees pass the necessary resolutions. York street between Broad and Pine, Pine between Spring and Broad and Commercial street between Pine and Main are all to receive special attention. Parking spaces are to be marked off in the business district and loading zones defined. A new bus stand for the Nevada City-Grass Valley line is understood to be contemplated to avoid the present turning around in the middle of the business district.

A movement is on foot to permit heavy travel on the Pine street bridge again, but in view of the report of the engineer engaged to report on the structure, it has been stated by some of the trustees that there will be no let down of the three ton regulation. The city has been to heavy expense to prepare other streets for heavy traffic and direct it by way of Sacramento and Clark streets.

The case brought by J. H. Stark et al to quiet title to mining claims in the Washington Mining District, which has been in court for some years, has at last been decided in favor of the plaintiff by the state supreme court, upholding the decision originally rendered in the local superior court by Judge J. B. Landis.

James McGregor, who was sheriff of Sierra county around thirty years ago passed away at Riverside a few days ago at the home of his daughter. His last visit to Downieville was two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Fisk have come down from Lake Tahoe and expect to make their home here this winter.

Mrs. J. J. Graves came up from Los Angeles to visit her brother, George Webster, who lives in the Newtown district.

A local Chinese by the name of Ting was shot in the arm yesterday while out hunting.

Charles Genasci killed a four pointer buck near Central House on the Washington Ridge last week.

The real storms of the fall season appear to be heading this way and several days the past week were quite threatening, but not much rain fell. There was a display of sheet lighting which interfered with radio reception considerably at times. The nights are turnng quite cold and fall wraps are becoming popular.

COZY CORNER CHAT

AN EXAMPLE OF THE widespread fame of The Nugget is found in a post card request from Worcester, Massachusetts, the other morning for sample copies of the paper from some one who is doubtless a stranger to Nevada City but who has heard of its mining newspaper here and wants information on our mineral possibilities. This is but one of our letters received regularly from widely scattered points over the country. It should bring home to our people the great benefit of having a home town newspaper that is as widely read as The Nugget, and all accomplished in the short space of less than two years. There is a rare opportunity for our citizens to keep strongly behind their home paper and encourage it to put forth its best efforts in behalf of Nevada City and Nevada county. We are more than happy to have the privilege of telling Nevada City's possibilities to the great outside world and invite it to come in and get acquainted with us. Nevada City may have had a glorious past in the heydey of her mineral greatness but she has yet a more glorious future due to the willingness of her citizenry to work together, to pull together, to be eternally boosting and with her enormous, potential, resources. The Nugget wants to be found always working shoulder to shoulder with such public spirited citizens.

WITH THE INSTALLATION of new equipment, The Nugget is well equipped to render as efficient advertising and job printing service as will be found in any first class country shop anywhere. The new electric mat caster was put to work Wednesday morning in its initial tryout and its performance was all that it had been represented to be by its makers. A stereotyping plant is an essential part of every modern newspaper office and we invite any of our readers to come in and see the machine at work. More press equipment is to be installed at an early date to keep up with our growing business. New and modern type faces and decorative material are being regularly added. New advertisers are being included in our columns each month which means that we shall shortly be able to be running eight pagse regularly.

WITH THE SUBSCRIPTION list well toward the thousand mark and new names coming in every week means more efficient service to our advertisers. Patronize the advertisers who are making a newspaper possible in Nevada City.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

A. P. Giannini, president of the Bancitaly Corporation of San Francisco, says:

"Success? It comes from making up your mind what is going to happen and then backing your judgment to the limit!" That is the way A. P. Giannini, President of the Bank of Italy, outlines his formula—the one that has made his institution the largest bank outside of New York.

"The man who thinks in terms of tomorrow or next year is the man who makes progress. But it's no use to decide what is going to happen if you haven't the courage of your convictions. Many a brilliant idea has been lost because the man who dreamed it lacked the spunk or the spine to put it across. It doesn't matter if you don't always hit the exact bull's eye. There are other rings in the target that score points.

"Aim to put yourself in a position to do something the other fellow can't do—particularly in an emergency. Be ready to help people when they need it most. Get set to yank them out of a hole. The glad hand helping hand in a dark day that is all right in sunchine but it's the folks remember to the end of time"

Miss Edna Smith left Sunday to resume her duties as teacher at Martinez. She spent the summer here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W Smith.

THINK IT OVER

There are more than 4,000 uses for wood—and new ones are being discovered every day.

One billion wooden pencils are used in the United States every year.

Railroads use 130 million new wooden ties a year.

Five million trees a year go to maintain telegraph and telephone lines.

Mining operations call for 260 million cubic feet of wood a year.

The cooperage industry uses 250 million cubic feet of wood annually

It takes 36 acres of forest to produce one day's edition of a big city newspaper.

Lumber and pulp manufacture make up the second largest industry in the United States in capital invested and labor employed.

Six million people derive their living from industries using wood—one million men are employed in the lumber industry.

We are cutting our remaining forests four times as fast as they are being renewed by new growth.

There are 100 million acres of cut-over and burned forest land in the United States which should be growing trees.

Now, we have no desire to get into a controversy with our state agricultural college, but we can't possibly let such a brazen statement get by, for we have been eating fruit and vegetables for upwards of a half century and now look at us.

HOW A TRUST FUND SAVINGS ACCOUNT FUNCTIONS

So important does the management of the United Security Bank consider the Trust Fund Savings Account that they summoned the entire force of the Nevada City and Grass Valley Branches to Sacramento the past week to listen to a talk on that subject.

The speaker explained that it functions the same as an ordinary Savings Account, except that when an emergency arises, the funds are payable immediatey by this Bank to those for who mthey were intended by you.

You name your beneficiaries, with or without their knowledge. Automatically upon demise the fund becomes their without delay; without probating costs or fees of any kind, except inheritance taxes if there are any; and they get exactly the amount you have indicated in the manner you may specify. While you live it isthe same as any ordinary Savings Account. You add to it or draw from it at will. It is subject to your signature alone, and draws the usual savings interest.

It is simply a Savings Account which offers you the advantages of dictating how it shall be disposed of without the necessity of making a will as regards ready funds or the expense of probating. The United Security Bank and Trust Company folows your directions carefully without making a charge of any kind.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS GROW

Assets of California's building and loan associations on June 30, 1928, were greater by $74,265,243 than the assets of those organizations at the close of the fiscal year in 1927.

This is shown in a report compiled to-day by George S. Walker, building and loan commissioner. and filed with Governor C. C. Young.

The combined assets of the association on June 3the amounted to $337,706,757. And as further indication of the prosperity of the state is the fact that the number of shareholders and investors in the associations leaped in the space of a single year from 261,232 to 323,160. The increase in investors was 24 per cent.

One of the striking features of the year's business, thes report states, i the fact that there has ben a further tendency on the part of the associations to reduce their interest rates and also the dividends paid to the investors.

"Many observers recognize this as the first step towards placing the business on a more consrevative basis," the commissioner remarks. "It is now quite probable that before long '5 per cent and safety' will become the building and loan slogan."

Thirty-one new building and loan associations were licensed during the year, bringing the total of active associations in the state to 216. During the year seventeen associations retired, being absorbed or consolidated with other institutions.

Borrowers of the associations now total 92,406. The average amount of each loan is $2,893. During the year, 31,96 real est0ate loans were made.

Thirty-six California cities now have building and loan associations with assest exceeding $1,000,000, five more than a year ago. There are sixty-eight associations in the million-dollar class.

Miss Elaine Mobley, one of the Placer union high school teachers, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mobley, over the week-end.

The dance at Penn Valley given by the Legion Auxiliary netted $125 for the Auxiliary treasury.

Dan Magonigal of Downieville was here early last week. He is a prominent mining man of that section.

J. G. Clary, who recently sold his barber shop in Grass Valley will devote his entire attention to his ranching interests in that vicinity. He has a dairy herd of 26 cows.

,W. Richards, O. W. McKinney and Ray Worthley left Monday for Washington where they will assist in erecting the bridge over the South Yuba. It was washed out last spring by the heavy storms.

MRS. PARSONS HONORED

Mrs. Charles E. Parsons, Chairman of Conservation, California Federation of Women's Clubs, Nevada City, has been appointed a member of the Board of Directors of the Outdoor Christmas Tree Association, according to word received here today from Clarence F. Pratt of San Francisco, who is president of the Association.

With representatives of forest conservation, women's clubs, service clubs, chambers of commerce, and other civic and state organizations pledged actively to support the outdoor Christmas tree movement, it is expected that many thousands of trees will be decorated in every section of the State.

Mary Pickford, celebrated screen star, is chairman of the Southern California division of the Association which has set up a quota of 25,000 outdoor Christmas trees for that section of the State. Chairman Pratt predicts that the Northern part of the State will equal if not exceed the number of trees decorated in the South.

All those having outdoor trees capable of being decorated during the holiday season are to be urged by the committee to do so. The objects of the Association are to assist in the preservation of the forests of California; to advertise California's wonderful all-year-round outdoor climate; to teach the children forestry; to encourage the planting and caring for the outdoor Christmas trees, and to give pleasure to those who see the electrically lighted and decorated outdoor trees. *

SLIDING FORTY MILES PER THOUSAND

E. K Booth the local Federal Tire Agent at Grass Valley, has just received some interestinb facts on tire mileage from the makers of Federal Tires.

Mr. Booth says: "When your speedometer shows that you have gone 1040 miles, you can figure that you have actually gone 1,000 miles. The other 40 miles were run up by slippage of the rear wheels. Rear wheels slip on an average of 4 miles in every 100-40 miles in every 1,000 And more than that on rough or wet roads.

"Slipping tires grind off rubber. What can you do about it? Watch your air pressure. You can't eliminate tire slippage. But, you can reduce it to a minimum by checking the air pressure in your tires at least once a week—and in this way keep them constantly at the recommended pressure.

"If motorists only realized the things their tires had to fight, they would take better care of them. The first step in proper care is correct inflation."

CYANIDE RETREATMENT WORKED ON COMSTOCK

A description of various cyanide methods for the retreatment of tailings from the famous Comstock—Lode, Nevada, are given in Serial 2883, recently issued by the United States Bureau of Mines.

In the earliest days the amalgamation process was accepted as the principal method for the recovery of the precious metals from the Comstock ores. The large tonnage of good-grade ore from the Comstock Lode attracted the best metallurgical talent of the time, and developed there the highest skill in the art of amalgamation, including the auxiliary chemical preparation of the ores and the mechanical operation. In this work 0.5 to6.0 pounds of mercury was used per ton of ore. The mercury loss probably averaged about 2.5 pounds per ton of ore treated.

The better grade of tailings from the ores milled were impounded, often near the works. In many cases the small tailings were reworked several times, by amalgamation, chlorination and cyanide methods. The present study by the Bureau of Mines deals with large accumulations of the lighter and better grade of tailings, impounded on the banks of the Carson River and which are known as "Douglas tailings."

Retreatment of these Douglas tailings is most important for the recovery of mercury lost in the amalgamation process and of copper introduced as sulphate to assist the amalgamation. Part of the mercury remaining in the tailings has united with base metals, part has found sulphides, and the remainder is mostly oxidized. Most of the copper introduced as sulphate was precipitated by the iron parts of the treatment equipment. This metallic copper is now partly amalgamated and sulphidized.

Copies of Serial 2883, "The Retreatment of Comstock Tailings," by E. S. Leaver and J. A. Woolf, may be obtained from the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

It's up to a man to sit down and contemplate a standing offer.

FLOTATION TREATMENT USED IN LABORATORY

In the Moscow, Idaho, field office of the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce, attempts are being made to carry on a so-called preliminary flotation of complex lead-zinc ores at a relatively coarse grind. The object is to make a tailing at as coarse grind as possible to avoid high grinding costs and the loss of mineral in the slimes produced when minus 20 mesh grinding is practiced. The low-grade tailing stage of the method has met with success. The next step is to make good grade concentrates from the middling products produced. Experiments to this end are in progress.

CRUSHING AND GRINDING STUDIES OF QUARTZ

In the course of a study designed to obtain fundamental data on the crushing and grinding of ores, a preliminary investigation of the crushing and grinding of quartz has been undertaken by the United States Bureau of Mines.

The results of crushing and grinding have hitherto been judged entirely by the amount of the various sized particles produced, based on sieve sizing for particles below 74 microns—a method which could give only a general idea of what had been accomplished, states John Gross and S. R. Zimmerley, in Serial 2880, recently published. There was a distinct need of a "yardstick" for the measurement of crushed material. It appeared that no advance in the fundamental ivnestigation of crushing and grinding could be made without a reliable method of surface measurement and that such a measurement would have to be based on some property of the surface of the crusher material.

A number of attempts based on various surface actions, such as adsorption and heat of wetting, were made to measure surface on quartz particles, but all gave satisfactory results. After some preliminary work it was decided that a dissolution method based on Wenzel's law—"the reaction velocity between solids and liquids is proportioned to the area of contact"— would be the most feasible.

After investigating the solvent power of sodium carbonate, sodium hydroxide, and hydrofluoric acid for quartz, hydrofluoric acid was selected as the most suitable solvent, and a dissolution method was developed which gives very reliable results. A description of the dissolution method employed is given in Serial 2880, copies of which may be obtained from the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

The big mill at the Murchie mine is now dropping stamps 24 hours a day on ore coming from the new workings and is said to be making very satisfactory returns. A large number of men are employed at this property which is becoming one of the district's largest producers again. The Murchie has enormous possibilities.

SENIOR ANNOUNCEMENTS

A meeting was called Thursday, October 4, for the purpose of selecting the class announcements for graduation. We decided to get our announcements from Harris's Drug Store which is the local representative of the T. V. Allen Company of Los Angeles.

OYEZ — OYEZ — OYEZ

One of our students said he would have washed last Saturday but he posponed it on account of RAIN.

Report cards were at a permium Wednesday at a dollar apiece. But most of the expectant purchasers wanted their money back after they caught a glimpse of their marks.

It is suggested that an "Alibi of the Month" Club be started to give our pupils, who have exhausted their inventive capacity on former occassions, a fair chance.

EDITORIAL

The first period report cards were distributed Wednesday, October 3. To many, they were disappointing The percentage of failures as given in a report by our principal, Mr. Isensee, was very large. In his discussion of our marks he made a suggestion that those having low marks should find their difficulties and not keep the average of our school down. Another point he stressed was the carrying of too many subjects. Students carrying five subjects and passing only three would do much better to carry only four and pass them all. He is also spending time with students, through interviews, furnishing helpful suggestions whereby they may better themselves.

Even though we have some low grades we have several students who received excellent marks, and at this time it does not seem out of place to mention them. There are six students, this period, who are on the honor roll. They are: Alberta Baker, Nancy Jones, Harriet Bleakley, Billy Jeffrey, Buddy Roberts and Betty Bettles.

JR—SR FOOTBALL

The pigskin is being booted on the football grounds again. Tuesday, October 2, the juniors and seniors, with the assistance of a few sophomores, played a fast game of football. The score was 15—14 in favor of the juniors, Skeahan, Lloyd White and Sboffi played a good game for the losers, and Hogan, Pierce, and Rector played a similar game for the winners. At the beginning it looked like a "walk away" for the seniors but the juniors "tightened up" on them and won by a small margin.

It's surely "getting bad" when a girl can only remember that "certain name." Mr. Weil:—"Lena, how's the hair-cut?"

Lena—"Keen!" (Howard Keane)

Fred Breese, when out grouse hunting, had the good luck to have a nice buck walk within range last week with the result that the Breese family larder was replentished with a generous supply of venison.

STAFF SELECTED

The following people have been selected for the staff of the news paper for the next two weeks: editor, Alberta Baker; senior reporter, Vera Toccolini; junior reporter, Nadine Sutton; sophomore reporter, Buddy Roberts; and freshman reporter, Betty Bettles.

PICNIC POSTPONED

The Girl's Association under the guidance of their faculty adviser, Miss Leschinsky, planned a picnic, to be held at Memorial Park on Thursday, October 4. On account of the uncertainty of the weather, it has been postponed until later in the term. Instead of the picnic the girls are planning on having a Hallowe'en party.

CAMPFIRE NEWS

The girls of the Shishewa campfire group and their guardian, Miss Elizabeth Janes, are very busy preparing for a bazaar which is to be held in November. At the weekly meetings the girls are making pillows, pincushions, aprons, and many other useful articles. Several of the group are weaving Indian baskets. These also will be sold at the bazaar.

Besides work of this type the girls also have social affairs. A short time ago the group gave a dinner party in honor of their guardian. The party was at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Ivey. The girls cooked the dinner. After it was served there were dancing and games. Everyone had a most enjoyable time.

The campfire girls wish to extend an invitation to all the high school girls to join their groups. Come on, girls, have some fun!

W. W. Waggoner has been named chairman of the Republican County Central Committee with W. Williams secretary.

STUDENT BODY DANCE

The first student body dance was held at eight-thirty on Friday evening in the high school gymnasium. This dance was given in order that the students might have more social times together and also get more results from their students body dues.

The High Five orchestra furnished the music for the dance and everyone was well pleased with their music.

This party proved highly successful. Another one will be held in three weeks, which the students hope will be as successful as the first.

FRESH—SOPH FOOTBALL

The freshmen and sophomores played a game of football on Wednesday, October 3. Although there were few participants the game was interesting. The score was 39—18 in favor of the sophomores.

Mr. and Mrs. James Phelan and Mrs. T. J. Flynn of Tyler were business visitors here early in the week.
